I am writing to ask you to longer support Production tax Credits. These credits amount to corporate welfare and it is an unfair burden place on folks living on a fixed income. The middle class continues to shrink; corporations are making huge profits with a shrinking work force. My husband works for a large supper market chain and has not had a raise in more than five years and his pay keeps shrinking due to the tax increases; we need a break. We the US government keeps supporting industries that can not sustain itself. We need to run the government as if it was a profitable business. Please let common sense prevail; run our government as if it was our own money and not somebody else's.

Thank you,
Robbin Clark
